Dear HD Community,

Chuck Brainerd just received word from the Cornell Graduate Council that our new concentration, /Law, Psychology, and Human Development/ has been approved by the Deans. The next steps (Faculty Senate and the Board of Trustees) will have to wait until the fall. Although the concentration did not meet the deadline for the on-line grad school application for students applying in for fall '07 admission, we can advertise the concentration as "in the final stages of the approvals process" on our field's website. This process has not always been quick or efficient and we owe a huge THANK YOU to Chuck for seeing it through the process.

The transformation of Human Development continues.

Sarah Lavalle, advised by Steve Robertson, won honorable mention for this award.

DUS Elaine Wethington is pleased to inform the department that the college is taking special note of the contributions that Human Development faculty are making to sponsor undergraduate research. Our collective achievements this year include:

*Sponsoring 156 students for research and honors credit; this is a 50% increase from last year.

*Developing and sustaining the largest honors program in the college.

*Mentoring student research presentations: Human Development students are much more likely that honors students from other departments to take part in university-sponsored undergraduate research presentations.

*Engaging 46% of all HD majors this year in research (for credit, pay, or volunteer). (This compares to 1/3 of Human Ecology students overall.)

*Managing large scale laboratories that engage many students. Marianella Casasola supervised 36 students this year in her lab, the highest total in the college. Gary Evans supervised 32 (the second highest total).
