

Currently enrolled Cornell University freshmen and sophomores who are interested in internally transferring to the College of Human Ecology should carefully review the following information. Juniors are rarely considered for internal transfer. Only the College of Human Ecology majors/options listed below are available for internal transfer.

- Students are required to pursue at least one course in their target major (courses should be 3 or more credits; see suggestions below), appropriate quantitative and science coursework, and college/major appropriate coursework. Coursework must be taken for a grade.
- Freshmen writing seminar requirements need to be completed or in progress at the time of application.*
- The Cornell University AP/IB sheet can be used as a guideline, but know that the College of Human Ecology and its departments adhere to their own established AP/IB rules.
- Qualified premed/prehealth candidates should apply at the end of their freshmen year only. High performing premed/prehealth sophomores may be considered.
- Design supplements are required for candidates to the Design and Environmental Analysis (DEA) major and Fashion Design & Management options. These supplements are critically evaluated by the department faculty as part of the admissions process.
- Review the curriculum sheet for your target major to more fully understand the college distribution requirements listed.
 - Note: The CHE Admissions Committee recommends that students pursue Natural Science I.A.1, when the option to choose between I.A.1 or I.A.2 is listed.

* The College of Human Ecology only accepts a score of (5) on the AP English Literature and Composition or the AP English Language and Composition exam as fulfillment of a maximum of (1) Freshman Writing Seminar.

 The College of Human Ecology only accepts a score of (3), (4), or (5) on the AP Calculus BC exam as Calculus fulfillment. We do not accept AP Calculus AB.

 Policy Analysis and Management recommends that students pursue PAM 2101 for the best Statistics preparation. Students should wait until they can take that course rather than substituting PAM 2100 or another Statistics course if they are unable to register for PAM 2101. Calculus needs to be taken if Statistics is not.
