PORTFOLIO GUIDELINES FOR INTERIOR DESIGN APPLICANTS

Submission of an Interior Design Index and a portfolio are required for all Interior Design freshman and transfer applicants. These materials add to your Cornell University Freshman or Transfer Supplement to the Common Application by providing a complete picture of your qualifications for admission.

Interior Design freshman applicants

Your Interior Design Index and portfolio, to be evaluated by interior design faculty, should be sent along with your Cornell University Freshman Supplement to the Common Application to the address below.

Interior Design transfer applicants

Your Interior Design Index and portfolio, to be evaluated by interior design faculty upon receipt of your official college transcript(s), should be sent along with your Cornell University Transfer Supplement to the Common Application to the address below. It is relevant to note that the transcript enables the faculty to view the work in your portfolio within the context of courses you have taken. Refer to the Interior Design Transfer Criteria for specific transcript requirements.

Portfolio Guidelines

- Present your work from a variety of media including design projects, drawing, painting, ceramics, graphics, photography, woodworking, etc in a portfolio, not to exceed 12 pages.
- Please include high quality scanned copies or printed photographic images in color or black and white of original work. Do not include actual work. Compile images in a binder or flat folio with photos and/or images in, for example, clear plastic sleeves.
- Present your material in a neat, well-organized manner, including a table of contents. We are flexible with the format, however, the maximum page size allowed is 8 ½" x 11". Portfolios with page size larger than 8 ½" x 11" or those submitted on CDs or by other electronic media will not be reviewed.
- Label each portfolio item with information on the medium used, the date it was produced, whether the project was done for a class or independently, and the original size of the work.
- Pre-application portfolio reviews are not conducted.

Portfolio Returns

Portfolios will be returned after the admissions cycle if you provide postage and a sturdy envelope/ mailing packet. While we take every precaution to ensure proper care and handling, the College of Human Ecology cannot assume responsibility for lost or damaged portfolios.
