Food Choice Trajectory
A model applying the life course perspective to understand continuities and changes in food choice over a person's life course.