Jerry Suls is Professor of Psychology at Iowa University. He is a past editor of Personality and Social Psychology Bulletin, and sits on the editorial boards of Health Psychology and the Journal of Behavioral Medicine. In social psychology, his area of expertise is social comparison. In health psychology, his specialties include life stress, coping, and psychosocial factors involved in coronary heart disease.